A BAROLO "SAFARI"

We're always keen to know what Maremma Safari Club founder Rudston Steward is up to next. From the massifs of the Val Badia to Calabria's ancient gorges and villages, his Italian walking tours go deep and delightful on local nature, lore, and gastronomy. One to put on your radar for October: a Barolo Safari across Piedmont, for the gourmand who likes to get in a few (but not too many) kilometres before degustation and dinner. The four-day journey will average only about 10-12km a day, and will go long on truffles, castelmagno and robiola, and, naturally, some rare and fine expressions of the
